

Opioid Rescue Medication Value List

Naloxone and nalmefene are opioid antidotes that can reverse an overdose. Opioid overdose emergencies can happen anytime and having these medications can save lives. If you or a loved one regularly take prescribed opioid medications or show signs of opioid addiction, talk to your pharmacist or doctor about having naloxone or nalmefene on hand.

If your non-HDHP plan has the Opioid Rescue Medication Value List benefit, products included on the list below are covered at 100%. That means you do not need to pay a copay, coinsurance, or meet your deductible for these products. If you have a high deductible health plan (HDHP) with the Opioid Rescue Medication Value List benefit, products on the list below are covered at 100% after you have met your deductible.
